Safety & Loss Prevention

Loss prevention programs help businesses prevent accidents and manage claim costs, which are both critical factors in determining insurance premiums. Effective loss prevention programs begin with a commitment to safety by owners and top management to create the proactive approach needed. Depending on your company needs, we can offer you the following programs:

- Education and training seminars
- Safety committee development
- Noise level/dosimetry testing
- Ergonomic assessments
- Safety program development
- Additional services

A program of any size will make a significant contribution to accident prevention and loss control goals.

Companies that make a committed effort to reduce their losses can make a positive impact on employee morale, productivity, quality and profits. More importantly, safety and health programs help to protect a company’s most valuable asset: its employees.
